6. Please present concise arguments for the GE principles applicable to this course.

- General Knowledge
  Historical study of neglected yet important social movements document how non-elite individuals and communities have worked for societal change through organizing efforts that challenged the power structures of their time. Students are not only exposed to this history, but also analyze how those in the Asian American movement articulated and worked toward a more inclusive and just society and culture in the United States and abroad. In the process, students gain a fuller understanding of the nation’s past.

- Integrative Learning
  Although primarily historical in focus, the course draws upon the interdisciplinary field of Asian American studies/ethnic studies to access methodological and theoretical frameworks that will allow for an integrated learning experience that incorporates reading, writing (brief assignments as well as research-based), discussion sections, and historical research skills (e.g., primary sources). The course content will also address issues of community-based documentation and learning as well as the theme of civic engagement.

- Ethical Implications
  Social movements inherently contain ethical issues since reform and change suggest a kind of critique of structures like the state and other institutions and their impact upon peoples’ lives. Issues relevant for this course like racism, war, colonialism, poverty, and educational access are steeped in ethical questions and concerns related to justice, equity, and inclusiveness.

- Cultural Diversity
  Diverse Asian American and Pacific Islander groups formed coalitions with one another and across racial groups in the effort to effect social change in the United States, but that also made linkages to other parts of the world under the banner of the Third World (abroad and at home).

- Critical Thinking
  The development of critical thinking skills is woven throughout the course through readings and response papers, analysis of primary documents and film, and other writing assignments. In addition, sections will provide additional opportunities to develop these skills.

- Rhetorical Effectiveness
  Small group work, writing assignments, section-based discussions, and interactions with guest speakers will enhance the rhetorical skills of students in written and oral formats.

- Problem-solving
  Students will address is how social movements take form and what issues arise as individuals and organizations seek to institute changes in the social, political, economic, and cultural arenas of which they are a part. Analysis of “successes” and “failures” provide opportunities for students to engage in a socio-cultural problem solving, especially as they are encouraged to pose alternative approaches and to apply lessons from the past to present issues.

- Library & Information Literacy
  The use of the library for primary and secondary sources, including the UCLA Oral History Research Center and the Department of Special Collections, is a remarkable resource for the subject matter of this course, as well as web-based research that will help students gain important skills in posing research questions and finding answers in a variety of sources.

Course Description
Using the Asian American movement of the late 1960s and 1970s as a lens, this course introduces students to social history methods, including the role of oral history, documentary film, and archival history, and the analysis of primary and secondary sources. The course situates the Asian American movement within the larger frame of social change of the era and interprets nation and society through the lives of “ordinary” men and women. Campus- and community-based activism, service learning, and civic engagement are also themes that will be explored.

Course Readings
Yuri Kochiyama, Passing It On
Laura Pulido, Black, Brown, Yellow and Left
Donald Ritchie, Doing Oral History: A Practical Guide
Selected Other Readings and Documents (On reserve, on-line, and library collections)

Films
A Song for Ourselves, 34 minutes
Mountains That Take Wing- Angela Davis and Yuri Kochiyama, 2009, 92 minutes
My America (Or Honk if You Love Buddha), 1997, 87 minutes

Week 1/ Introduction
The Asian American movement is an important, but often neglected part of the activism and social change in the 1960s and 1970s, and readings and film and discussion will introduce students to major themes for the course. Theoretical and methodological issues will be presented along with discussion of all writing assignments: primary source papers, oral history paper, and research paper.

Film: My America (partial)
Week 2/Telling Our Stories/Oral History
Oral history has been a critical method for documenting the stories of everyday people and a staple of social history. UCLA Oral History Research Center is a leader in the field and a staff person will provide an overview of the work of the Center.

Rdg: Ritchie, Doing Oral History, Chaps. 1-4
Asian American History section on UCLA Oral History Research Center website
Primary Source Paper Due (in section): Oral History

Week 3/LA Story, Part I
The Asian American movement is often portrayed as a San Francisco Bay Area phenomenon, but there was a significant parallel story in Los Angeles, and this week focuses on situating the movement within a larger, multiracial context that included African Americans and Latinos.

Rdg: Pulido, Chaps 1-4
Oral History Paper Proposal Due (in section)

Week 4/LA Story, Part II
This week will emphasize the Asian American Movement in Los Angeles, based in the reading and also drawing upon primary sources from on-line and archival sources in UCLA Department of Special Collections and UCLA Asian American Studies Center Library.
Rdg: Pulido, Chaps 5-8
Selected Sources
Primary Source Paper Due (in section)

Week 5/Mid-Term Exam
Part I will consist of identification and short answer items and Part II is a major essay question. Mid-term guidelines will be provided in advance.

Week 6/The Remarkable Life of Yuri Kochiyama
By focusing on the activist, Yuri Kochiyama, students, through the reading and film, we are able to witness the convergence of memoir and oral history that builds upon the multi-racial lens of the Pulido reading.

In addition, the UCLA Asian American Studies Center houses a significant portion of Yuri Kochiyama’s papers, photos, and other materials. Center librarian and archivist, the principal editor of the book, Passing It On, will guest lecture in class not only on the process of producing the book, but also provide an in-depth look at the role of archival history that is linked to the research paper assignment.

Rdg: Kochiyama, Passing It On Film: Mountains That Take Wing (partial)
Oral History Paper Due (in section)
Week 7/Documenting Community
Documentary film has been an important methodological tool for understanding and analyzing social movements, and this week we will watch and discuss the film, A Song for Ourselves about musician and activist Chris Iijima. The filmmaker of the documentary will visit class and discuss documentary film along with a staff member of the UCLA Center for Ethnocommunications that offers courses on documentary film production.

Film: A Song For Ourselves

Week 8/Campus Activism
College and University campuses played a pivotal role in the Asian American movement and the call for ethnic studies and Asian American studies. The UCLA Asian American Studies Center has extensive student organization files.

Film: On Strike! Ethnic Studies, 1969-1999

Primary Source Paper Due (in section): Student Org Files

Week 9/Community Connections
Community-based efforts, along with and often in convergence with campus-based activism, formed a core of the Asian American movement. Guest speakers from several leading non-profit organizations with links to the movement will be brought to class for a panel discussion that emphasizes community-based- and service learning and civic engagement.

Week 10/Conclusion

Research Paper Due (in section)

<td>The course seeks to broaden GE course offerings in Asian American Studies. An objective of the course is incorporate service learning in Asian American Studies curricula, the major, and the minor. In addition, the course will introduce students to service learning and internships in the larger Asian American and Pacific Islander communities. It is intended that Asia Am 40 will be the first in an Asian American Studies service learning sequence that may be followed by internship-based courses as well as other departmental service learning components. Lane Hirabayashi, Chair, Asian American Studies and Center for Community Learning (CCL) Director Kathy O''Byrne were consulted on the service learning courses. Both were supportive of the classes.</td>
